Residential Flight to Suburbs and Resort Areas Temporary or Permanent?

Thursday, October 29, 2020

Program 9:00 – 10:30 a.m.

For the last decade, there has been a movement to Urban Core, especially 24/7 cities such as Chicago, New York and San Francisco. Young professionals and empty nesters have moved to these urban cities to experience walk to work, restaurants and bars, sports teams, and cultural activities. Major companies have followed to attract the best workers and reduce commute times and institutional investors have focused their investment strategies on these Gateway Markets.

2020 has seen a major shift in these trends. The COVID-19 pandemic which has shuttered restaurants, bars and in person sporting events combined with customers desire for less dense living conditions, high taxes, remote working and learning options and social unrest has created a movement away from cities into suburbs and resort areas. How will this effect real estate investments in the short and long term? Please join our expert panel for this interesting and informative program. Q & A will follow the presentation.
